Behavioral support specialist Boyd Bradshaw appeared at last week's LeRoy Haynes Center autism parenting workshop before about 120 parents and teachers of children who have autism. He explained how sensory integration and behavioral support in the home can enable parents to work with their children to bring about an easier transition into the community. Bradshaw's appearance was part of the second annual series sponsored by the School for Autism at the LeRoy Haynes Center in La Verne. Information: 909-593-2581 or www.leroyhaynes.org.
