

NAMES&FACES

Whatever the event, honor or occasion, tell the whole town about it. Send a brief, written item and a good-quality photo to Faces, City News, c/o The Daily Bulletin, 20141 E. Fourth St., Ontario, CA 91764. Or e-mail items to citydesk@inlandnewspapers.com; photos should be in jpeg format. Or stop by our office on Fourth Street east of Vineyard.

LeRoy Haynes Center appoints two to its board of directors

An East San Gabriel Valley bank executive and the CEO of a leading national landscape firm based in Fontana have been appointed to the all-volunteer board of directors of LeRoy Haynes Center in La Verne.

Dena Garvin-Smart, senior vice president and administrative officer of Stellar Business Bank in Covina, and Christopher Soltis, CEO of Soltis and Company, Inc., have joined the board and will serve three-year terms. The board meets every two months.

Soltis, who was raised in Upland and is a resident of San Antonio Heights, operates a 20-year-old landscape firm he established that provides landscape construction and landscape maintenance services to national homebuilders, national property management corporations, golf courses and universities.

Garvin-Smart, a resident of Glendora, is a sales, marketing, strategic planning, image and company culture/brand-building executive whose emphasis has been in the financial services industry.

Garvin-Smart

She has received 37 national and international awards for sales, marketing and promotional campaigns and served at both

Soltis

Vineyard National Bank in Corona and Foothill Independent Bank in Glendora before joining Stellar Business Bank.